

Looe 10 miler

The 3rd race in the Cornwall Glass GP series took place on Sunday 26th Feb; The Looe 10 miler, best known for its relentless elevation.

Hosted by the Looe Pioneers, this race starts and finishes in the Millpool car park, leading competitors to an undulating route through West Looe and out onto the coastal road to Talland. Runners are then treated to a loop around the Killigarth, Porthallow area, bringing them back down to Talland for the return leg to the finish line.

The weather conditions were likely advantageous for those braving the tough challenge, with sunshine, minimal wind and a chill in the air.

Overall winner in a time of 01:00:18 was Steve Reynolds from Truro Running club, the winning lady was Sarah Hoskin from Mile High in 01:08:47.

17 club members signed up for this infamous 'hilly and hellish' race; with Rose Harvie leading the NRR contingent home in a great time of 01:22:31

Leading male was Tim Hicks close behind in a time of 01:22:43
